Supplies to Troops.

D 18146.

Mr. N. Srinivasa Iyengar:--In connection with supplies to troops, people in villages are put to much inconvenience. On receipt of orders/of the poor raiyats, appropriates for his own use some portion of them and supplies the balance to the Military authorities. The Military authorities pay what they please irrespective of the market price and little or none of the money reaches the raiyat. This system should be regulated so as to cause the minimum amount of trouble to raiyats. The authorities may be required to give two weeks' previous notice.

2) Chief Secretary:- The existing rule provides for two weeks' notice, but it is not always possible to give such long notice on account of the exgencies of Military service.

3) Mr. V. Shamiengar:- Then, why not make arrangements through a contractor?

4) Chief Secretary:-The troops pass once a year or so and it is not possible to get contractors. Even if we have contractors, not being local men, they will not be able to procure the required supplies in time, and the local authorities will have to help the contractor.

Dewan:-- The matter will be examined.

	Case there is at least the saptg of appealing to the civil offices. I think there are some rules re. Supplies from Milty marches. Please Examine & put up. MK 17.4.20.
7	The three Govt orders required are herewith put up. 17/4
8	The present rules & orders provide adequately for all cases. Milty marches as observed by the chief Secr are very rarely undertaken, and irregularities of the kind adverted to in the proposition are not common. The milty authorities are generally very strict, and considerate. If the local officials khass at any time in a high handed manner, an appeal to the civil officers accompanying the troops or to the D'Comm would perhaps set matters right. The representations of the grievance would seem to be more imaginary than real. For orders MK 17.4.20.

I do not think any fresh orders are needed. When troops march they have to depend on local supplies in certain respects & the responsible local officers have to see that the supplies are made with the least inconvenience to all parties concerned. So far as the Mysore troops are concerned the occasions for such marches are the Birthday & Dasara seasons when troops have to march from Bangalore to Mysore & back. Some years ago there was a little correspondence in connection with such an event between the Mily & the civil authorities.

I do not think the system of contractors will work very well in out of the way places. The Mily cannot have a local contractor at every place where they camp at, & one contractor responsible for making arrangements at a number of places either fails at the critical moment or has to draw on the help of the local officers, which cannot often be refused. of an intermediary between the actual supplier & the purchaser only results in the latter having to pay more & the former having to rest content with less.

It is not that the system in vogue is the best & is free from evils but that any other alternative will not be a change for the better.

I agree with the views of the Chief Secretary. The system of appointing contractors will not work as the members of the Troops Mess feel & for between the British Troops & the Indian Troops. There existed there were three messes & two messes in charge & Camp Commandants. They had contractors for supplies in their Establishments, but they (the contractors) were then no means a civil Civil Servants used to come to their aid

Order No. G 27549-61

Dated Bangalore, 07 16/6/20

The ~~summary of~~ representation is that much inconvenience is being caused to people in villages in connection with supplies to troops during marches and that therefore arrangements should be made to minimise the inconvenience to the villagers in this connection as far as possible. It ~~is~~ has also been represented that the authorities may be required to give at least two weeks' previous notice. ~~Government observe that troops~~ have during marches the necessary to depend on local supplies in several respects and it is for the Deputy Commissioners of Districts to see that the supplies are made with the least inconvenience to all parties concerned. The Deputy Commissioners are invariably requested to attend to these instructions.

2. As regards previous notice, even the existing rule provides for 2 weeks' previous notice being given though cases may occasionally arise in which it may not always be possible to give such long notice on account of the exigencies of the Military service.

With reference to the suggestion made in the course of the discussion that arrangements may be made through contractors, it is to be observed that the system of supply through contractors is not likely to work well in out-of-the-way places as it will not be possible to ~~have~~ employ a local contractor at every place of halt or make one contractor responsible for arrangements at a number of places.

4. Government threfore consider that no changes in the existing ~~rule~~ system are called for.
